within the culture of Robert Mapplethorpe and Tom Bianchi, seashore celebrates either the male nude and the pleasures Beach of friendship on a summer's day. David Morgan's striking images of the male determine were showing in Manhattan urban for over a decade—on posters and get together invitations, prints and greeting cards, in addition to in a number of magazines. Now Morgan has introduced his digital camera to the seashore and focussed it on younger males at play, gamboling one of the elements, having fun with the sun, sand and sea, whereas embodying Whitman's "dear love of comrades" with a panache that might have extremely joyful previous Walt. Those photographs have a sunny sexuality and a sly humor, whereas exuding an easy pleasure at being alive and at the seashore on an ideal summer season day. The spouse tale by way of Ernesto Mestre-Reed captures in awesome language the lyricism and actual pleasure that irradiate Morgan's photographs, making seashore a contrapuntal get together of the magic circle of male camaraderie.
