His works include: White Desolate Tract (1904), My Woman of the North (1905), The Sword of the Frontier (1905), Bob Hampton of Placer (1906), Beth Norvell: A Romance of the West (1907), Prisoners of Likelihood (1908), My Girl of the South (1909), Keith of the Border (1910), Love Less Than Hearth (1911), My Woman of Doubt (1911), Gordon Craig (1912), Molly McDonald (1912), The Maid of the Wooded Area (1913), Shea of the West (1914), Irish Brigade (1914), Past the Frontier (1916), The Devil's Personal (1917), Wolves of the Ocean (1918), The Unusual Case of Cavendish (1918), and The Case and the Lady (1922).

4.75 stars This is among the most unique Westerns I have ever read. Again, Randall Parrish has proven he can write one other form of fullyfitted assorted story. He is bought to be the most flexible writers I have ever loved reading. The considered marriage vs. divorce used to be very thoughtfully and Scripturally dealt with, which I significantly appreciated. Also, I enjoyed how the hero, in a tough spot which could were gravely tempting, tells the heroine... "I am now not your conscience...you needs to pray and search God." Spoken like a real hero!
