Sheila Whittaker desires of the final word information tale and the dignity she merits as a world-renowned anchorwoman. After collecting billions of greenbacks and 3 ex-wives, Edward Giles desires of whatever he hasn't ever had; an easy existence and love. Julia Karr's wish and innocence have been forcefully taken from her while she used to be younger and has lived in melancholy and torment ever since. She goals of convenience and peace. Outstanding. All three of those books relatively touched my heart.
