this is often the 1st of a two-volume number of reports in inconsistencies in Greek and Roman religion. Their universal objective is to argue for the ancient relevance of varied kinds of ambiguity and dissonance. the 1st quantity makes a speciality of the primary paradoxes in historic henotheism. The time period 'henotheism' -- a contemporary formation after the stereotyped acclamation: #EIS O QEOS# ("one is the god"), universal to early Christianity and contemporaneous paganism -- denotes the categorical devotion to 1 specific god with out denying the lifestyles of, or perhaps cultic consciousness to, different gods. After its best within the twenties and thirties of this century the time period fell into disuse. Nonetheless, the inspiration of henotheism represents some of the most amazing and demanding shifts in Graeco-Roman faith and as a result merits clean reconsideration.
