International Relations and the Challenge of Postmodernism: Defending the Discipline

Darryl S.L. Jarvis

After supplying an outline of a number of the postmodern and poststructuralist theories that experience infiltrated the sphere of overseas relations, Jarvis (government and foreign relations, U. of Sydney, Australia) argues that as a result of the "Third Debate", thought during this self-discipline has develop into too summary and unrelated to the topic matter, leaving foreign relations' theoretical knowing of world political family members susceptible and disconnected with reality.
