Jazz Poems by Kevin Jazz Poems Young

Kevin Young

Ever considering its first flowering, jazz has had a robust impression on American poetry; this scintillating anthology bargains a treasury of poems which are as various and as important because the tune that encouraged them. From the Harlem Renaissance to the beat movement, from the poets of the hot York institution to the modern poetry scene, the jazz aesthetic has been a compelling literary force—one that Jazz Poems makes palpable. We pay attention it within the poems of Langston Hughes, E. E. Cummings, William Carlos Williams, Frank O'Hara, and Gwendolyn Brooks, and in these of Yusef Komunyakaa, Charles Simic, Rita Dove, Ntozake Shange, Mark Doty, William Matthews, and C. D. Wright. listed here are poems that pay tribute to jazz's nice voices, and poems that throb with the bright rhythm and effort of the jazz tradition, ranging in tone from mournful elegy to sheer celebration.

favorites: "god pity me whom (god quite has)" - e.e. cummings "jazz fantasia" - carl sandburg "trumpet player" - langston hughes "rose solitude" - jayne cortez "charlie parker birthday celebration, tompkins sq. park" - catherine bowman
