i believe the main amazing factor I introduced clear of Joseph's writings up to now is how very human he was, and the energy that he mustered within the face of problem is what gave him (and most likely all heroes) his "superhuman" legacy. His phrases indicating the weight he carried and the way he could hand over if he did not think compelled, i discovered enlightening and comforting. He stated that the spirit of competition used to be so injurious to any helpful work. It was once a great reminder. I was once additionally stunned with how a lot he referred to that I had by Joseph Smith's Concept of the Word of Wisdom no means heard before.
