Love in a Mist (Devereux Family #4)

Patricia Grasso

The anxiously awaited new old romance from the bestselling writer of Highland Belle and barren region Eden. solid out of Wales at her mother's death, pagan Keely Glendower hides her id less than boy's garments and steals for food. An enemy lord, Richard Devereux, sees via her conceal and holds the druid goddess captive by way of a magic more Love in a Mist (Devereux Family #4) suitable than her own.

Warm, funny, nature-loving heroine -- speeding aristocratic hero -- quite a superb romance! Next to abandon EDEN, i believe this is Love in a Mist (Devereux Family #4) often the easiest ancient romance Patricia Love in a Mist (Devereux Family #4) Grasso ever wrote. i love the best way the heroine is so nature-loving and spontaneous, even jogging barefoot open air so she will be able to "feel mom Earth underneath my feet." I additionally just like the method Patricia Grasso makes refined enjoyable of the church's conventional worry of lady energy and feminine sexuality. and that i love so much of all how the aristocratic hero acknowledges that this very strange heroine is simply correct for him! I particularly considered giving this publication 5 stars -- I definitely loved it enough. the single factor that retains it from being a vintage is the way in which the "evil blonde" who torments the heroine is any such cartoon. and there is a few comedian reduction with a couple of bumbling thieves that is relatively cringe-worthy. yet except that i feel this is often one of many most interesting books of Patricia Grasso's career. I omit her!
