Nonequilibrium Statistical Mechanics: Ensemble Method

Byung Chan Eu

during this monograph, nonequilibrium statistical mechanics is constructed by way of ensemble equipment at the foundation of the Boltzmann equation, the familiar Boltzmann equations for classical and quantum dilute gases, and a generalised Boltzmann equation for dense easy fluids. The theories are built in kinds parallel with the equilibrium Gibbs ensemble idea in a manner totally in keeping with the legislation of thermodynamics. The generalised hydrodynamics equations are the imperative a part of the idea and describe the evolution of macroscopic tactics in keeping with the legislation of thermodynamics of structures some distance faraway from equilibrium. Audience: This booklet may be of curiosity to researchers within the fields of statistical mechanics, condensed topic physics, fuel dynamics, fluid dynamics, rheology, irreversible thermodynamics and nonequilibrium phenomena.
