Religion and Mythology: Married of Necessity

Louis Hammann

faith and Mythology exposes a brand new method of faith and mythology that demonstrates a miles higher compatibility than is mostly accepted. instead of accepting faith as basically fact and fantasy as basically false, it proposes that myths are married to all non secular traditions. the writer defines myths as "an ingenious reaction to adventure that yields a definite form of knowledge." Myths display relationships that attach the human spirit to the neighborhood and deepen the event of the area via nature. In effect, myths may supply the potential for a extra whole spiritual experience. It recognizes that myths exist even within the glossy secular society to awaken resourceful knowledge, whereas very likely obscuring the bounds of standard spiritual experience.
