Semmes: Rebel Raider (Military Profiles)

John M. Taylor

One man—Capt. Raphael Semmes—dominates the heritage of accomplice naval operations within the American Civil War. even if the Confederates have been hopelessly outnumbered at sea, Semmes roamed the oceans first within the CSS SUMTER after which the CSS ALABAMA, shooting approximately a hundred Federal service provider ships and precipitating a flight from the yank flag that decimated the Federal service provider marine. respected within the South as a hero, the North reviled and feared the Yankee-hating Semmes as a pirate. despite his reputation, his wartime exploits have been remarkable. Noted historian and biographer John M. Taylor illustrates how, less than Semmes's command, the ALABAMA grew to become a family identify in the US and out of the country and struck worry into the hearts of ships' crews and passengers alike. Incredibly, Semmes and the ALABAMA traveled 75,000 miles, and as some distance east as Singapore, with no ever taking shelter in a accomplice port. In 1864, off the coast of Cherbourg, France, the Union's USS KEARSAGE eventually stuck up with the accomplice raider and fought the final ever ship-to-ship gun duel among wood warships.
