a suite of trips written within the haibun form, Water Shining past the Fields specializes in Southeast Asia: Cambodia, Southern China and Thailand. The e-book takes the reader on a full of life and picaresque trip of vagabonding within the undying culture of the mendicant, the threadbare wanderer who units out on uncooked paths, unhurried in stride, reflective amid unforeseen encounters which supply him with either poetic resources and private renewal. Brandi's experience is stuffed with lengthy walks, misty temples, wild bus rides, solitary river excursions, culinary escapades and off-the-wall humor. it's also a cultural and political journey, one who finally throws gentle on our survival thoughts in a bothered world.
